

Lost Love

(Music Thijs van Leer/Lyrics Mike Hayes - April 1986)

Where is love?
Where is love?
Love that made me tremble
When I saw you
Saw you coming near to me.

Where are we?
Where are we?
Where is the rock
That we promised to be
For ever more?

Do you recall the time we had in France?
We tried to learn the Apache dance.
We laughed, we laughed until we cried.
The tears we're crying now are bitter with the salt
of sadness and regret.

Where are you?
Where are you?
Do you miss my body close to yours?
Waking mornings in the sun?

What are we?
We're not free.
We're meant for each other
For eternity.
I am dying slowly
I am dying slowly now.

Now I know what hell is all about.
The torture makes me want to shout.
I miss you
I miss you
What can I do to get you back again?

Where are you?
Where are you?
Hiding in emotions all around me.
Out of reach.
Out of reach.
